Kolkata, 10 February, 2026 — Emami Agrotech Ltd, the Rs 20,000 cr edible oil, food and bio-diesel manufacturing arm of the Rs 30,000 cr. Emami Group, today announced its entry in the branded staples market of Bihar and Jharkhand, by announcing the launch of Emami Healthy & Tasty Fresh Chakki Atta, Maida, Suji and Besan. This expansion into the core kitchen essentials through the branded staples category which is estimated to be over Rs 80,000 crore in India aligns with the Company's vision to scale its foods vertical to Rs 2,000 crore over the next 3–5 years nationally.

The Company had already entered the staples market in Bengal last year.

"More than a category entry, this is a purposeful move. We aim to bring in quality, trust, affordability and the intangible magic of 'food happiness' into the ritual of everyday Indian meals," said Vibhash V. Agarwal, Director, Emami Group, who is driving the food business of the Company. "Food is not just about consumption—it is an emotion. With this launch, we intend to enter from pantry to the centre of the Indian kitchen space and be an integral part of daily rituals, family meals, and emotional bonds around food," Agarwal added.

The shift that the Indian food industry is witnessing towards branded staples, driven by consumer preference for hygiene, packaging, and brand assurance over loose, unbranded alternatives, offers an ideal opportunity for this initiative. Emami Agrotech is set to capitalize on this momentum, with a quality product and an elevated brand experience backed by its strong established distribution network and digitally enabled supply chain.

Made with premium quality wheat, Emami Healthy & Tasty Fresh Chakki Atta is 100% pure wheat flour with zero maida or artificial preservatives that has successfully passed the 3-finger softness test even hours after being made.
